Mr. Chapwick, the Sanitary Commissioner amongst other questions he has addressed. to the Chinese householders on subjects included within the scope of his commission, ing to pay more than they at present do is at present under the consideration of a few of for water if a larger supply were afforded. There is every reason to believe that those to whom the question has been addressed will very generally reply to ithin the affirmative. In addition to the water rate, they have at present to pay coolies for carrying the water | Vice-Admiral Willes also paid a visit to Admiral from the hydrants, and of late, we hear, they have in some cases been compelled to purchase water itself from water boats. If by a moderate increase in the rate they could obtain an adequate supply available without the grave. inconvenience attending the present system Government any moral right to impose an Funuel line may breathe more freely." increase in the rate? The Tytam Low Level project is estimated to cost botween $600,000 and the Colony has a surplus of say half-a-million dollars. If it should be considered inadvisable to appropriate the whole of this to water supply a loan of say $350,000 might readily be negotiated in the Colony. The present rate would be sufficient to 'pay interest on this at the rate of eight per cent, and as the annual excess of revenue over expenditure | Daily News. is now upwards of $100,000 a year the lean itself might very soon be wiped off. The rate itself must be looked upon as an increasing item of revenue, since the number of houses in the colony is increasing, as is loan for such a purpose; on the contrary, of distributing the cost of the improve-

The short time, however, he died too, and, we may Government has for years, in the face of an hope, experienced a pleasant surprise at finding ever increasing demand for water, remained his faithful spouse ready to welcome him in the inactive. How much longer this may continue, if the matter be, left in the hands of the Government, it is impossible to say. If, on the other hand, a public company were granted the privilege of supplying the. town with water, can there be any doubt United States Government would refund to the that the demand would soon be met? The figures we have given above would not, it is nt Washington, yet the money has been so long The large Edition contains ONE THOUSAND true, show a very handsome return on the coming as to deprive the gift, or restitution, of a pages of printed matter. Very amusing traits of Chinese character crop up occasionally in the Peking Gazette. A certain officer, we read in a recout memorial, having created a favourable impression in the mind of a former Governor of Cho-kiang, was offered the charge of a lokin collectorate; but he declined it firmly, on the ground that the appointment was not one adapted to men of a scholarly turn of mind. Subsequently this fastidious gentleman was nominated overseer of the Board for the construction of mechanical appliances, and this he accepted, though under protest, in view of the pressing necessity, remarking, however, even in this case, that "the work verged on the common!" He has since gained great credit at Peking for the improvements he has introduced in the arms employed by the provincial soldiery. torpodoes, and other munitions of war .- N. C.

The wife tended him with the most perfect self-forgetfulness, not having loosed her girdle or closed her eyes-to more than a month. At last, seeing that her busband must die, and that shortly, she reasoned thus with herself. "I have no children to live for, and am already old; when my husband finds himself in Hades, he will have no one to take care of him as he has at present, and may be exment amongst those who are to profit by it, posed to dangers from the fox-demons of the nother world. It is better, then, that I should die before my lord, so as to receive him on his Brival and protect him." Among the multitudinous religious and mys tical societies of China, there is none more worthy of tolerance than the Tsai-li Huei, or to be supplied without the imposition of any Fellowskip of Reason. The tenets of this sect are peculiar, but respectable: The members are strict abstainers from wine, opium, and tobacco they are perfectly chaste; they never gamble ther are in every sonse moral, law-abiding, loyal subjects. Their peculiarities consist principally in wearing white clothes on all religious occasions, indulging a little in astrology, and worshipping the stars, the scorpion, the lizard, the hedgehog, and the snake. Perhaps "worship" is too strong a word to apply to the reverence in which these objects are held : but they are at any rate invested with a quasi-sacred character, Lately, we notice by the Shen Pao, the Superior of the scot died at Tientsin. He was generally known as Chang San yeh [i.e., the third sen of the Chung family.] and the extraordinary demonstrations at his funeral proved the wide es of the Tsai-li. Over three thousand persons assembled to pay him the last tribute of respect who were entertained and fed at the expense of ed in white robes, and the country for several around is described as presenting a most engious appearance as the caravan of pilgrims drew near. On leaving, at the conclusion of the ceremonies, of the dead Superior, the lowest sum being five hundred cash. They are viewed with suspicion and dislike by the authorities, for no other reason than that they make a mystery of their doctrines. THE KAIPING COAL MINES.

Daily News Correspondent.

The N. C. Daily News says :- The Shon Pa keeps the ball rolling with regard to the Kaiping mines. On Tuesday it published another article on the great advantage that would accrue to China were she independent of other nations for her supply of coal, and its arguments were out in a way calculated to appeal to the amourropre of the governing classes. It pointed out that were China wilfully to deprive herself o participation in the benefits of the underground riches she possesses, for the sake of some foolish old-world superstition, she would lose face in the aves of other nations, and arged the explaitation the mineral resources of the country on economic grounds with much astuteness and This article coming on the top of the ormer one ought to have a good effect. only discouraging feature in the whole business is that the feng-shui argument is only put for ward as a pretent, the real motive of the Censor's action being a wish on the part of the retrogressive party to undermine the power of the Viceroy. In a subsequent issue the Daily News has the following paragraph :-

The last report about the Kai-ping mines possession of some freshly out branches on the to the effect that the agitation may after all reduce itself to a question of douceur. It is even said that a large sum of money has already bee sent to the rescue, sufficient to cause the Consors to disregard the sufferings of the Earth Drago: and even the discomfort of the Dowager's restless soul. We hear that the working of the coal mines will, in all probability, be proceeded with that of the iron-mines, however, may be left in abeyance for a time.

extension is a question of importance. The limit is thought not to have been reached, but it is probable that natural disadvantages will prevent such an extension as would seriously affect India. The poppy crops of the season of 1881 have been seriously damaged in the Shirar districts, and to a less extent in those of Ispahan.

A correspondent at Athens says that for a generation past such severe weather as has recently been experienced has never been known there. "While we hear," he says, "of middle and western Europe enjoying a winter of ununual mildness, we have been experiencing one of extraordinary rigour. In the streets of the village of Cephissia, at the foot of Pentelikon, only a few miles from Athens, the snow has been lying for days six feet deep.
